JOHN POOLE HAS CONFESSED CRIME

Says He Shot Kemper, but Entirely by Accident.

NEIGHBORS DIG OVER FARM

Search Being Made by Police for Two Other Farm Hands Who Disappeared About the Same Time.

Fowler, Ind., May 4.—Farmers from the surrounding country joined with the police authorities and the sheriff in a vigorous search of fields, barns and outhouses on the farm of John Poole for traces of additional murder victims when they learned that the prisoner had confessed the killing of Joseph Kemper of Chicago, who was employed on the farm.

Kemper's dismembered body was found buried in a corn field and Poole admits having killed him, but says the killing was an accident. He said he had shot him, but does not explain how the body was dismembered. Poole's son Emory made the grewsome discovery after a secret search for months. It was on his complaint that his father was arrested.

"I shot him, but it was an accident," said the prisoner, after having been put through the "third degree" by the authorities. "Kemper and I were out hunting rabbits last December. Kemper was in front of me and while I was climbing over a fence my shotgun was accidentally discharged. When I looked up I discovered that Kemper had been shot. He was dead when I reached his side."

JOHN POOLE

Asked by Sheriff Sackleton how the body became dismembered the prisoner answered "I do not know."

Poole, when first taken into custody, denied all knowledge of the murder, but after being put through the "third degree" finally broke down and told his story.

"Poole admitted to me that the dismembered body was that of Joseph Kemper of Chicago," said Sheriff Shackleton. "The prisoner said Kemper was twenty-four years old and had been employed by him only a few months. Poole said Kemper had a brother in Chicago who was employed by an ice company. I have been unable to locate the brother.

"I believe more bodies may be found on the Poole farm, and I am going to keep searching parties at work."

Search for two other missing farmhands—Charles Clark and Charles Mack—who disappeared mysteriously about the time that Kemper was last seen, Dec. 10, 1910, is being made by the police. Neighbors are of the opinion that these two men also were murdered, and buried on the Poole farm.

A "murder farm," similar to that unearthed by the police of Laporte, Ind., three years ago on the farm of Mrs. Belle Gunness, is expected to be revealed by the authorities of Benton county after their investigation.

"Mother, sister and I had a premonition that father had something to do with the disappearance of Mr. Kemper," said the young man, "and I have been searching for his body ever since."

Daughter Denies Murder Knowledge.

Chicago, May 4.—Miss Grace Poole, daughter of the accused man, who is attending the Englewood Business college, 6223 South Halsted street, this city, was overcome when she denied emphatically her brother's statement that she or her mother had any knowledge of her father's connection with the strange disappearance of the farm hand.

FRUIT NOT HURT BY COLD

Growers Around South Bend Predict Heavy Crops.

South Bend, Ind., May 4.—No loss of fruits and crops was reported from this section as a result of the sudden cold spell which settled over the vicinity. The continued cool weather of April held back the buds of all kinds of fruit and vegetation, and it will still be two weeks before they will be far enough developed to be damaged by a frost or a freeze.

Fruit growers in the peach and grape belt predict unusually large crops this year and hope to recoup their losses of a year ago.

YPSI MEN FIGURE LARGELY IN CIRCUIT CRIMINAL DOCKET

Ann Arbor, May 4.—The May term of the circuit court opened Monday morning. The majority of the cases were reported ready.

The criminal docket for this term consists of only seven cases, those against Roy Coleman of Ypsilanti for embezzlement, against William Lehr, Manchester, two charges of operating a saloon within 400 feet of a church; against Warren Lewis of Ypsilanti for running a gambling house; against William Binder of this city for selling liquor without a license; against Henry Reichnadler of Ypsilanti for wife desertion; and against Frank Taylor, colored, Ann Arbor, for larceny.

There are four issues of fact on the docket and 29 chancery cases.

NEW LORIMER INQUIRY

Committee Approves Resolution Carrying Expenses.

Fight Is Expected in the Senate When the Report Is Placed Before That August Body.

Washington, May 4.—Renewal of the Lorimer investigation was provided for by the senate committee on contingent expenses, which approved a resolution covering the expense of such an inquiry. The report will come up in the senate and a fight upon it is expected.

The committee voted with reference to the LaFollette resolution creating a committee of new senators to take testimony and report whether William Lorimer is entitled to the seat he now holds.

Senator Briggs, the chairman, and Senator Dillingham both voted for Lorimer in the first inquiry. The latter is chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, and wants the LaFollette resolution sent to that committee.

DR. NYE RESIGNS FROM COMMITTEE

Follows Similar Action by Six Other Members.

CONFESSIONS ARE RUMORED

Columbus, O., May 4. — Dr. George B. Nye of Pike county, handed to Speaker Vining his resignation as a member of the house of representatives calendar committee, his action following that of the other six members, who followed the lead of Representatives Price Russell of Wayne and Lawrence Langdon of Warren. The latter resigned after notice they would do so unless Dr. Nye resigned.

Rumors of confessions by members of the Ohio legislature and of arrest of accused members are rife as the grand jury convenes, but no official will substantiate them.

Prosecuting Attorney Turner reiterated his declaration that he would not accept any confessions of men who sought by the confessions to escape prosecution through an immunity bath.

Governor Harmon is taking an active interest in getting at the bottom of the corruption. He has not only told the grand jury all he knows, but has appealed to the Republican floor leader of the house to aid the Democrats in finding out the guilty legislators.

The panic among legislators following the abortive attempt to get an immunity bath has been increased by the introduction in the house of a bill making it mandatory upon judges to give legislators convicted of bribery a penitentiary sentence.

Nye, who Saturday caused the arrest of Burns' detectives on charges of bribing him, was among those indicted. His bond was placed at $10,000, as also that of Sergeant-at-Arms Rodney J. Dyegle of Erie county, alleged go-between. Dyegle, it was reported, was about to confess. He was sent for by Detective Burns and spent considerable time at the courthouse, but later when asked if he had been promised immunity declared he had nothing to confess. In addition to Nye, one other representative was indicted, A. C. Lowry of Lawrence county, son-in-law of Colonel H. A. Harting, a rich manufacturer. Lowry, like Nye, is a physician.

There were three senators indicted: George K. Cetone of Montgomery county, a fruit grower; Isaac F. Muffmann of Butler county, lawyer and former school teacher; L. R. Andrews of Lawrence county, attorney. The bonds of all save Nye and Dyegle were fixed at $5,000. Surety bonds were supplied save by Huffmann and Cetone.

Andrews and Lowry, both of whom hail from Lawrence county, are Republicans, the others Democrats.

DIETZ SCORES STATE

Declares that Lumber Trust Has Heel on Sawyer County.

In Address to Court He Charges the Prosecution with Having False Testimony.

Hayward, Wis., May 4.—Taking of testimony began in the Dietz murder trial. The prosecution considered nothing but the killing of Deputy Sheriff Oscar Harp, and Assistant Attorney J. S. Williams announced that the case might be in the hands of the jury within four days.

In a brief opening address John Dietz, charged the state with having false testimony and the "lumber trust" with having its heel on Sawyer county.

Mrs. Dietz, in addressing the jury, said in a voice quivering with feeling: "I wish to say I never told Thorbahn that Mr. Dietz did any shooting. All I did was to beg him not to shoot down my husband when Thorbahn and his deputies pulled their guns on us on our porch, after the surrender.

The first witness called for the state was Tom Pomerlo, who was in the party of three which attempted to gain the wood-pile at the cost of Harp's life. He described the shooting of Harp and was cross-examined by Mrs. Dietz and said he saw no smoke and heard no report of a gun from the Dietz cabin.

Walter Bard of Superior, a newspaper man, and Ernest McWhoorter, a deputy, were the other two witnesses.

SATURDAY TO BE A BIG DAY AT THE NORMAL

This is a busy week at the Normal College with the minstrel show Thursday and Friday evenings and the big M. A. C. meet Saturday. Last year over three hundred students from the Normal accompanied the local baseball, tennis and debating teams to Lansing. The Normals won the debate last year and are very confident that they will win again this year.

The question upon which the two teams will debate is, Resolved, That the Federal government should retain ownership of all coal deposits on lands owned or hereafter acquired by the United States. M. A. C. will take the affirmative side of the question and will be represented by C. C. Wilcix, G. H. Collingwood and Isaac Margolis. Those representing the Normal and taking the negative side are John Myron, Robert Ward and George Frasier.

The baseball game will be called at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The tennis tournament also will be played in the afternoon while the debate will take place in Normal hall Saturday evening. M. A. C. has the best baseball team in the middle west and this is looked forward to as the game of the season.

PEACE CONGRESS OPENED BY TAFT

ALL WILL ARGUE FOR PEACE

Congress Held Under the Auspices of Societies Devoted to Settlement of International Disputes Without War.

Baltimore, Md., May 4.—With permanent peace as the ideal and international courts of justice as the immediate objective, the third national peace congress met at the Lyric.

President Taft opened the session and delivered an address. On the stage with the president were assembled men representing the best thought and influence in the United States, and during the sessions of the congress they will outline not only what has been accomplished in the movement for world-wide peace, but what is planned.

The congress is held under the auspices of the leading societies of America devoted to the settlement of international disputes by means other than war.

On the program with President Taft at the opening session were Cardinal Gibbons, Hamilton Holt of New York, president of the congress; Andrew Carnegie, Dr. L. S. Rowe of the University of Pennsylvania, William C. Dennis of Washington, former assistant solicitor of the department of state, and Benjamin F. Trueblood of Boston, secretary of the American Peace society.

At the sessions, which will continue until Saturday, some of the foremost men of this and other countries will be heard, all arguing for one subject, permanent peace among all nations.

The pending treaty of arbitration between this country and Great Britain is expected to be the most virile topic before the congress, and the tremendous possibilities which lie in it will be considered.

HUTCHINSON ESCAPES ANOTHER JAIL SENTENCE

Basil Hutchinson accused of picking pockets both in this city and on an interurban car at Ann Arbor was allowed to go on deferred sentence by Judge Kinne, Tuesday afternoon, on the stipulation that he is to behave and that he must account to the judge for any misdemeanor. Hutchinson was arrested after serving a sentence in Detroit, Dec. 1, 1910, on a charge of larceny from the person of Frank Johnson of Saline. He waived examination and was bound over to the circuit court Dec. 19, 1910. He was allowed $300 bail. His second offense was somewhat later in Ann Arbor. Victor E. VanAmerman acted as prosecutor as Prosecuting Attorney George Burke had represented Hutchinson at the preliminary hearing.

Thirty families barely escaped with their lives from the burning building. Mrs. Orak Dalavak and her daughter were caught on the top floor, where their bodies were found.

STEALS CAR FROM GARAGE BUT FAILS TO GET IT AWAY

Auto stealing seems to be quite prevalent in this vicinity during the past few days of pleasant weather. Senator Frank Newton is the latest victim although the theft was made and the machine returned before the fact was discovered by the family.

Wednesday evening about 11:30 a young fellow who was attempting to run his auto up East Congress street hill but who was having considerable difficulty, was stopped by Officer Chas. Cain for not having lights. The man said he was from the garage and was only trying out the machine. Officer Cain told him he would have to go back to the garage or light his lamps and the man turned and started back towards the garage but turned up River street instead of continuing his course down the hill. Nothing more was seen of him. This morning about 5:30 o'clock Clifford Goldsmith, whose residence is next to Senator Newton's on Park street, recognized a big Jackson touring car which was standing near Dawson's Elevator on Lincoln street as that of Mr. Newton and immediately took it home before the family had discovered their loss.

The lock on the door of the garage was broken. The only injury to the machine was a bent fender and a punctured tire. It is thought that the young man was unable to make the hill and so turned on River street where the tire was punctured and so left the machine near the elevator where it was found this morning. If the tire had not been punctured Mr. Newton would probably have been minus his machine this morning.

MOTION TO QUASH INDICTMENT IN THE BROWNE CASE IS LOST

Springfield, Ill., May 4.—Judge James A. Creighton overruled the motion to quash the indictment in the case of Lee O'Neil Browne, Louis D. Hirshheimer, Frank Traut and Robert E. Wilson, charged with bribery in the Forty-Sixth general assembly. Following the overruling of the motion, the attorneys for the accused said they wanted a speedy trial.

In overruling the motion, the court held that the grand jury which returned the indictments was regularly drawn and that the names of the witnesses were all written on the back of the indictment.

CONDITIONS IN MEXICO WORSE

Diaz Government Seems Weak from Military Standpoint.

REBELS INCREASE ACTIVITIES

Confidential Reports to Washington State that Three-Fourths of Country Is Affected by Disloyalty to Present Regime.

Washington, May 4.—Internal conditions in Mexico have become much worse within the last few days.

The most alarming phase of the situation is the activity of the rebels at Cuernavaca, a city of about 18,000, about forty miles south of Mexico City. The insurrectos are strong in that vicinity and the city is threatened. American and German residents there have appealed to their respective diplomatic representatives in Mexico City for protection. Henry Lane Wilson, American ambassador at Mexico City, has asked the Mexican government to furnish the necessary protection to the foreign residents at Cuernavaca.

Notwithstanding original Mexican reassurances the activity of the insurgents at Cuernavaca is apparently unchecked by federal troops. No information has been received tending to indicate that Mexico City has yet been threatened, but the insurgent forces will unquestionably begin an attack upon the capital as soon as they complete their preparations for the assault upon Cuernavaca. The failure of the Mexican government to check the operations in the vicinity of Mexico City is accepted here as certain evidence of the military weakness of the government.

The state department is pessimistic over the conditions in Mexico at present. Whatever the result of the peace negotiations, it can have no effect upon the revolution in other parts of Mexico which has been spreading rapidly within the last few days. The negotiations with the insurgent commissioners in northern Mexico will affect only the state of Chihuahua and other sections of the country which were captured by insurgent forces in command of Madero. In other sections of the country, however, the revolutionary movement is headed by local leaders, who are operating independently of Madero's operations. The result of the peace conference will have no effect upon their activities.

According to confidential reports which have been received from government representatives in Mexico at least three-quarters of the country is now affected. The people do not seem to have been satisfied by the promise of the liberal administrative reforms made several weeks ago by Diaz.

While President Taft realizes the seriousness of the situation, there has been no development of the situation affecting the lives or the property of Americans which would require intervention. With the discontinuance of the fighting along the border, the acute diplomatic questions arising out of the firing across the international line at Agua Prieta have subsided. The situation in Mexico, however, has not been changed, although it is gradually becoming more apparent that the Diaz administration had no adequate military force to cope with the insurgents. There is a fairly large detachment of federal troops in Mexico Cty, but the government will probably have to keep them to defend it against attack. Authorities are convinced from official reports that the situation in Mexico is extremely critical and the complete downfall of the Diaz administration at any moment would cause no surprise.

THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1911

BUT DALLAS HAS THE COMMISSION FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

Distinctive features in the commission form of government in its more modern form are the principles of the initiative, the referendum and the recall, which our Michigan legislature recently turned down. An illustration of the flexibility and responsiveness to the public will which this for mof government affords is found in the way the people disposed of a gang in Dallas, which happened to have taken its abode in the school board. If Detroit for example had had the commission form of government, this disgraceful political situation, which has hampered the efficiency of their public school system for a number of years, would have been a matter of history long ago.

It seems that the superintendent of schools down in Dallas was a fellow who was accused of smoking cigarettes, frequenting saloons and of displacing the merit system by the spoils system in the appointment and promotion of teachers. This was distasteful to the public so the people instituted a recall and remove from office two or three of the members of the school board, thinking this would be sufficient notice to the rest to brace up and reflect the wil of the people. But the gang didn' look at it that way. The people as ye had only substituted a minority i the board of members who were representing the people. The majorit thereupon started out to give th superintendent a nice coat of white wash. A mass-meeting was then held at which the recall of the majorit was decided upon. A ticket wa named, and the voters recalled th objectionable members. After th campaign had gotten under way, th gang circulated recall petition against the satisfactory members constituting the minority, whom the people had previously elected. But the voters settled that too by turnin down the gang again, showing tha the people can be relied upon to ac intelligently when the facts ar placed before them.

They know what they want, an they ought to have what they want and the machinery for local self government ought to be made to conform to the wishes of the people an make it as easy as possible for them to obtain what they want promptly and as difficult as possible for thei will to be thwarted by selfish, designing politicians. Dallas is pleased wit the commission form of government There are about one hundred othe cities which have adopted it. Why not Ypsilanti also?

A Half-Cent Coin.

The lack of the half cent in our money undoubtedly costs the consumers of the United States millions of dollars every year. Competition has become so keen in business that producers and middlemen figure their prices down to the finest point. The difference of a half or even a quarter of a cent in the cost of such things as flour, sugar and soap means in the aggregate thousands of dollars to them. And that fraction of a cent is as valuable to the buyers as to the sellers. Yet when a certain cloth is advertised for sale at 37½ cents a yard and a woman buys three yards of it, she pays $1.13, because she cannot hand over $1.12½. With eggs at 45 cents a dozen, she pays 23 cents for half a dozen. The odd half cent goes to the seller. Never does the purchaser get the benefit of it.

Encouragement.

"Why should you be despondent?" asked the poet's friend.

"Why shouldn't I be despondent?" the poet replied. "I've been trying to add a bit of cheer to the world. I have written some things that men who ought to know have said were sublime. I have endeavored to describe the beauties of nature, to spread the gospel of brotherhood, to teach kindness and goodness and hopefulness. But the people persist in ignoring me; the publishers decline to accept my poems; my genius is unrecognized; I am left to starve in my attic."

"Cheer up, old man. A hundred years from now your poems may be illustrated by some artist who will get $500 for each of the pictures."

WASHINGTON IS A DOOMED CITY

Quake Will Level the Capital, Declares "Prophet Elias."

PUNISHMENT FOR ITS SINS.

Oracle Admits, However, That City Has Chance to Escape Destruction if Residents Repent—To Carry Tidings of Warning to European Metropolis.

The city of Washington will soon be destroyed by an earthquake!

At least that is the prediction of Elias F. W. Kaspereit of Chicago, who styles himself "the promised Prophet Elias" and who travels around the country foretelling disasters.

Of course the prophet admits that Washington might possibly be saved if the people would only repent and abandon their wicked ways. The reason for the destruction of this nation's capital is the utter disregard of the people for the teachings of the Bible.

Prophet Elias is not prepared to say just when the dreadful calamity will happen or whether the city will be swallowed completely in the earthquake or whether the disaster will be the tumbling down of buildings, accompanied by fire. But there is one thing the prophet is certain of, and that is Washington is doomed.

Sends Letters of Warning.

Warnings of the coming event have been sent to the president by special delivery letters and to the various ambassadors.

"The prophet" claims to have sent out warnings of the Boxer uprising of last year. He states that he told the people the uprising would not occur until after April 7. It occurred about the middle of the month.

The prophet claims to have sent warnings of the upheaval in Rome to the king of Italy and also to have notified the king of Portugal of the late uprising in that country. He says he is sent by a "higher power" to visit twelve large cities in the world within the coming year. He arrives in each city on the seventh day of the month and remains seven days.

How Visions Come.

The prophet claims to have his visions in various manners. Sometimes they come while he is asleep and at other times when he is alone a voice is heard telling him to convey a message to the people, and again he is visited by angels.

The route which the prophet has marked out for himself for the next year will lead from Washington to Rome, where he will arrive on May 7. From there he will go to Paris, London, Berlin, St. Petersburg, Stockholm Copenhagen, Lisbon and Madrid.

SAYS WOMEN CARRY BRANDY FLASKS IN BOOKS.

Physician Declares Drink Habit In This Country Is Growing Rapidly.

Dr. B. C. Keyser, superintendent of the Home sanitarium at Roanoke, Va., declared in an address before the American Society For the Study of Alcohol and Other Narcotics that modern society women were developing the drink habit and many becoming drunkards.

Dr. Keyser recited some startling facts concerning the fondness of women for liquor and exhibited an imitation book, which, he said, many women use, so constructed as to be able to hide a brandy flask within its false leaves.

He said that, while the evil was not so prevalent in America as in European countries, still it had attained alarming proportions in the United States, and he called upon the American medical profession to take a firm stand against the use of intoxicants.

Dr. Keyser told of actual conditions among what he termed "the so called blue blood of the country." He also declared that the necessity for prescribing liquor for patients was an exploded theory and that the practice had decreased 75 per cent in recent years.

All who have seen the newly erected statue to Sir Henry Irving, by Mr. Brock, R. A., have spoken of it in the highest praise. It will soon be time to cut the early potatoes for planting. If they are at all scabby they should be treated as follows: Put potatoes in sack (before cutting) and suspend for about two hours in a solution made by the addition of half a pint of 40 per cent formalin to fifteen gallons of water. The same solution may be used for several batches of potatoes. On removing from sack spread potatoes out to dry. They should then be cut and planted within a few hours. To get best results potatoes should not be planted this season on land which produced scabby potatoes last season. An entirely new piece of land or that which has not been in potatoes for several years is preferable.

The Plymouth Rock, perhaps the most popular breed of American fowls, if numbers are taken as a criterion, was originated by Mr. Upham of Connecticut, who crossed a white Brahmapootra cockerel on a black hen and this cross on a Dominique. The breeder's purpose was to produce an all around general purpose fowl. When this cross bred true to type Mr. Upham exhibited it under the name of Plymouth Rock, because he thought it appropriate that the first distinctly American breed should be named for the spot on which the first settlers of New England landed. In subsequent years, as a result of other crosses, the White and Buff Plymouth Rocks have been developed.

It is entirely misleading when the promoters of beet sugar factories have articles published in which the claim is made that larger crops can be grown after beets than after any other crop. While beets do not pull on the soil as do oats, timothy hay, wheat or cabbage, the fact remains that they exhaust it nevertheless and are not soil renovators in any sense as are the several members of the legume family. There is this to be said for beet growing, however, that the very thorough preparation of the soil and frequent tillage during the growing season leaves it in the best possible condition for a succeeding crop. Used in a rotation with corn, oats and clover, beet culture has much to commend it.

This germ reproduction sometimes goes on for years, and the fact noted is doubtless responsible for many a seemingly inexplicable typhoid fever epidemic.

Failure to use the Babcock test in the determining of the butter fat product of each member of the dairy herd not only prevents an effective elimination of the loafer, but also prevents adjusting the grain ration of the individual to her actual needs—that is, to the amount of butter fat produced. A feeding rule based on this test which is followed by many dairymen is to give each cow as many pounds of grain per day as she produces in butter fat per week. For instance, a cow giving twelve pounds of butter fat per week is given twice as much grain as the cow producing but six pounds. Yet how many dairymen continue in the same old rut, giving a cow so many quarts of feed, whether she is producing much or little butter, just because she is a cow and is giving some milk!

Shippers of the country and especially growers of perishable fruits will note with interest the outcome of a case brought by Dumas, a Columbia river valley fruit grower, against the Oregon Railroad and Navigation company for loss sustained because of a failure of the transportation company to provide cars at specified intervals as per terms of a special contract. In giving its ruling on the case the court—the United States court of appeals for the Ninth district—held that such contract was not invalid as discriminatory and contrary to public policy and that the carrier's inability to furnish cars at specified times, as agreed owing to an unusually heavy traffic at the time they were demanded, constituted no defense to an action seeking to recover damages sustained because of such failure.

There is probably no phase of neighborly relation in which the Golden Rule finds nicer exemplification than in keeping one's flock of hens shut up when the neighbors have their flower and vegetable gardens nicely spaded, raked and planted.

It is said on good authority that under the system of taxation which prevails in Mexico the peasant—in reality an agricultural slave—pays a larger amount to support the government than does one favored and wealthy family which owns 10,000,000 acres. Little wonder that there is unrest across the border.

The tiller of the soil who understands the chemistry of a spring snow which comes after a part or all of the early seeding is done always welcomes it, for he knows that in addition to the moisture which it contains and its mellowing effect upon the surface soil it deposits a considerable amount of nitrogen, which it absorbs in passing through the air.

Under a recent order from the general land office at Washington 21,830 acres of land surrounding the Wichita national forest in Oklahoma are to be restored to homestead entry and will be subject to entry after May 16 and until June 15. This will be under the usual conditions, which require the payment of $1.25 per acre at the time final proof is made.

A desperate effort has been made by paint and varnish makers to prevent the passage of laws in some of the states which compel the printing on every can of paint or varnish the formula according to which each is put up. One of the arguments which they are offering is that paints and varnishes do not affect the health, hence there is no need of giving the formula. True, this adulteration does not hit a fellow's digestive apparatus, but it surely does his pocketbook, for probably there is more adulteration of paints than of any other product of common use. If the paints are made of good pigments and pure linseed oil there is really no reason why the facts should not be stated on the outside of the package.

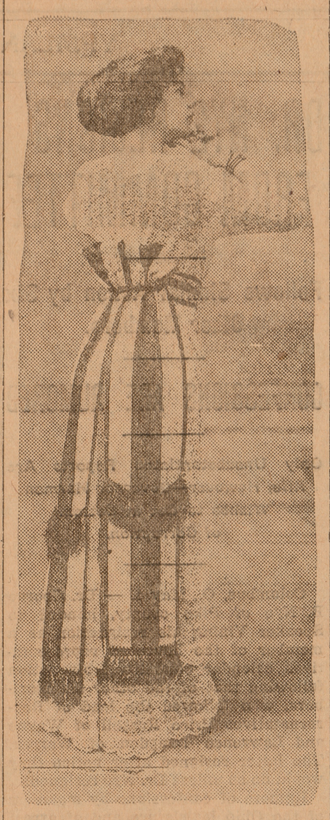
Probably no experiment station in the country has done more along the line of poultry investigations than that of Maine. For those of our readers who are interested in poultry raising we give below the receipt used by this station for making lice powder and making a spray for use in the henhouse. To make the powder mix three parts of gasoline with one part crude carbolic acid (or cresol) and add while stirring enough plaster of paris to give, when thoroughly mixed, a dry, pinkish brown powder. As a rule it will take four quarts of the plaster to one of liquid. This should be worked into the feathers, especially around the vent on the lower side of the body and under the wings. A second treatment should be given in four or five days and a third after about the same interval if the birds are badly infested. The wash or spray is made by mixing just before using three parts of kerosene with one part of crude full strength carbolic acid, and this should be applied with a hand spray pump or brush to the interior of the house.

There recently appeared in the daily newspapers of the central states a statement credited to a state dairy inspector to the effect that there was no danger in the use of milk from a tuberculous cow unless the lesions of the disease were actually present in her udder. If milk could be drawn from the udder of a cow under absolutely sanitary conditions—that is, so that no germs could be introduced from the outside—the above statement might be true, but the fact is very little milk is so secured. On the other hand, it has been found that the manure of a cow will contain the germs of tuberculosis long before her milk will, and if particles of the excreta get into the milk, as is true in a majority of cases, without doubt such milk is likely to contain germs of tuberculosis and therefore is unfit for food. Contrasted with the loose and well nigh criminally careless view as expressed above is the opinion of one of the animal husbandry experts of the department of agriculture at Washington—namely, that from the moment a cow has tuberculosis in any part of her body she is a source of danger and is likely to impart the germs to other animals or to human beings.

A rather striking illustration of the effectiveness of the Babcock test as a means of determining the butter fat returns of cows in a dairy herd was related to the writer the other day by the owner of a large herd of pure bred Holstein cows. It was shortly after the introduction of the sulphuric acid test as a means of ascertaining the amount of butter fat in milk. In his dairy barn were two fine looking cows which stood side by side. At the time of the test one was giving thirty-five pounds of milk per day and the other twenty-five pounds, and the rations fed were based on this showing. On applying the Babcock test it was found that the milk of the cow giving the larger amount tested 1.9 per cent of butter fat, while that of the one yielding the smaller amount tested 6 per cent. This meant that the latter cow was giving two and one-fifth times as much butter fat as the former and should have been fed that much more feed instead of less, as had been the case. The reader will likely say that this is an extreme case. It is, but it simply emphasizes the need of applying the test to a herd of cows and weeding out the worthless loafers from those that are really a source of revenue.

THE DAY OF THE SASH.

It Has Come Again, Bringing In Elaborate Creations.



SASH OF FLOWERED RIBBON.

When it was announced in Paris that fashion leaders had sanctioned the revival of sashes every girl who had an heirloom in the shape of an old embroidered sash congratulated herself, but, alas, while we are to have sashes it is "with a difference." The new sashes fasten snugly around the waist while the sash ends fall in all sorts of elaborate bows and folds. Some sashes are cut with double streamers like the one in the picture, which is of flowered ribbon and lace fringed with silk tassels.

The new sash is quite as intricate as the jabot and needs the same trained hand to give it the proper finish. Sash and girdle arrangements are of many kinds. Big bows and long, wide scarf ends of black malines appear on some of the light hued models. The new velvet with taffeta back in color is effectively used for sash effects, a wide end in two loops lying flat, one over the other, but of different lengths, being a popular method of using the velvet ribbon or satin. This gives much the effect of the detached skirt panel and breaks the tight skirt line in the back without introducing any odd fancy.

THE QUAKER MAID.

Dainty Garb Imitated by the Damsels of Vanity Fair.

For damsels who can look mild and demure Quaker-like fichus are just the thing for wear over a neutral colored house dress. The one illustrated here was of fine linen lawn embroidered in eyelet work and bordered with a scant frill of valenciennes lace.

Very popular is the fichu of fine linen, lawn or net. It can be adjusted over a plain little dress of thin material, or it can grace a silk or satin gown for evening. It is folded around the shoulders, crossed in front and fastened at the back in a small butterfly bow or under a cabochon, from which a square flat court train falls.

Made From Towels.

A simple and useful combing jacket or peignoir may be made from a good large towel. Divide it into four even parts, cut off two of these parts nearest the ends and sew them at right angles to the central portion. Sew tape where the pieces join to tie the peignoir on.

From three crash dish towels you can make a sewing apron, turning up the bottom and stitching it into pockets. Ribbon strings complete the apron.

A large embroidered towel will make a good bureau cover for summer. A line of drawn work will add to the appearance of a plain one used for the same purpose.

PAYS $50,000 FOR THE FAMOUS GUTENBERG BIBLE

Henry E. Huntington the Purchaser at Highest Price Ever Paid For a Book.

The famous Gutenberg or "forty-two line Latin Bible" broke the world's record at the Robert Hoe library sale in New York, bringing the extraordinary price of $50,000. This is double the amount paid for the Mainz psalter of 1459, which brought $24,750 at the Sir John Thorold library sale in London in 1884.

There were bidders from the English metropolis, from Paris, Frankfort-on-Main and Munich, and nearly all the larger cities of America were represented. The first bid was $10,000, and it came from George D. Smith, acting for Henry E. Huntington, a nephew of the late Collis P. Huntington. Following him came substantial raises from Dr. Rosenbach of Philadelphia, Dodd & Livingston, Bernard Quaritch of London and Joseph Widener, who was representing P. A. B. Widener of Philadelphia.

The bids were $1,000 at a time. Quaritch seemed determined to capture the prize and take it back to London, but after he bid $30,000 he stopped. The contest from that time on was between Mr. Widener and Mr. Smith. The price quickly went up to $35,000, then to $40,000, without a sign of quitting on the part of either. When Mr. Smith bid $48,000 Mr. Widener said $49,000 promptly, and Mr. Smith made it $50,000, and amid a burst of general applause the treasure was knocked down to him.

Mr. Huntington by this purchase succeeds J. Pierpont Morgan as the owner of the costliest book in the world.

The Bible is on vellum, and there are said to be only seven copies in existence. It and the copy owned by Mr. Morgan are the only ones in America.

Next to the Gutenberg Bible the highest price of the sale was "The Boke of St. Albans," a fine folio copy of the famous old book on angling and hunting, written by Juliana Berners, the prioress, and issued by an unknown printer at St. Albans, England, in 1486. This also was obtained by Mr. Huntington for $12,000, a new record price for this book. It is one of only two perfect copies, the other one being in the John Rylands library of Manchester, England.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Mr. Roosevelt Says a Good Word For Them.

Ex-President Roosevelt is in favor of women's clubs. He said so to the members of the Ladies' Literary club of Grand Rapids, Mich., whom he addressed recently.

"The woman's club," said he, "serves a high purpose. I believe in equality between men and women. If the club is a good thing for the men it is a good thing for the women. If the club interferes with the home it is bad. If the club life of you women makes for intellectual development it is a potent factor in placing the home on a higher plane.

"The purpose of the women's clubs should be intellectual development for the homemaker—the mother. Your children will respect you more if you keep your brains active. Earn the respect of your children by your mental activity.

"After having traveled abroad much recently I have concluded that America is the greatest home builder of this age. In our race development the women are beginning to realize that, while they perhaps must bear the greatest share of the burden, their husbands also must be decent."

Daughter to Be His Secretary.

Few government employees in Washington work harder than Elizabeth C. Harris, daughter of the representative from Massachusetts who succeeds Governor Foss in congress. She is an expert bookkeeper, stenographer and typist and will act as her father's secretary. Many members have their wives and daughters as secretaries, but usually they also have practical stenographers to take up the burden. Mrs. Humphreys of the state of Washington acts as her husband's secretary, but she in turn has a secretary who copies letters and addresses envelopes and attends to routine work. Miss Harris will do everything herself and take a course in law at the same time. Dolly Curtis, sister of the senator from Kansas, has been his business manager for years, and she is accounted one of the keenest political managers of the country.

Longevous Geese.

Geese will live to a great age, and some few years ago I came across a very venerable goose (male or female I cannot now say) in Wesmoreland in unexpected circumstances. I was walking from Milnthorpe to Arnside, and at Ganaside found an acquaintance sitting on a seashore bench feeding a pet goose with biscuits steeped in ale. He told me that this goose had been in his family for over forty years and was partial to beer stout, and even gin. One of the most remarkable records of the longevity of geese with which I am acquainted is to be found in an old book entitled "Travels in Scotland," by the Rev. James Hall, M. A., London, two volumes, 1907. On a visit to a Mr. Charles Grant of Elchies, Stirlingshire, the author was informed of a gander that had been killed by accident after living at the same place for "above eighty years."—G. W. My Corns Don't Hurt A Bit

Tired, Ailing, Swollen, Smelly, Sweaty Feet, Corns, Callouses and Bunions, TIZ Cures Right Off.

Say good-bye to your corns the very first time you use TIZ. You will never know you have a corn, bunion or callous, or sweaty, tired, swollen, aching feet any more. It's just wonderful the way the pain vanishes. Rub the corn—hammer it with your fist if you wish—no more pain after TIZ than if there had never been a blemish on your feet. Doesn't that sound good to you? Doesn't it? Then read this:

"The corns on either of my toes were as large as the tablets you make to cure them. Today there is no sign of corns on either foot and no soreness. It's an up-to-date Godsend.—Sam A. Hoover, Progress, N. C.

Just use TIZ. It's not like anything else for the purpose youever heard of. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonius exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. It works right off. You will feel better the very first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25 cents per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Program for Year Arranged.

The Ypsilanti Study club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. P. W. Carpenter. The literary program had somewhat to be curtailed because of a protracted business session. Considerable time was absorbed by a discussion of next year's program, which will deal with Holland and current events. A slight change in the wording of the constitution of the club is contemplated. Six new names were voted on, these being Mrs. F. L. Shaefer, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. C. H. Powell, Mrs. James Hueston, Mrs. L. M. James and Mrs. A. W. Woodbury. "The Industries of Sweden" were treated of in a paper by Mrs. Harrington. Mrs. W. L. McCullough gave a short history of the "Art of Norway." The book study was concerned with the newspapers of Sweden and brought out the fact that in subscription price the periodicals of that country were quite similar to those of this, and that 27 daily, weekly and comic papers are in circulation.

Good Program for Women.

The Ypsilanti Woman's club met Wednesday afternoon in the Red Cross Room of the Temple. Mrs. Fannie Cheever Burton sang a solo, "My Rosary." Roll call was answered to by naming objects bought of Holland and included tulips, pottery etc. Mrs. A. F. Marvin gave a talk, general in character, on "Musicians of Holland." Mrs. Chester Alban gave a paper on the "Agriculture of Holland," and told of its essential features so widely different from those of any other country. The cleanliness of the stables, where are kept the fine Holstein cattle, was described and it was remarked that the stables equalled in cleanliness the houses very near which they were placed. It was decided during the business session that the club would continue holding its meetings in the temple next year.

25 Pythians go to Milan.

A party of twenty-five of the Pythian Sisters went to Milan Wednesday evening where they exemplified the initiatory work for the Milan lodge. The trip was made in six automobiles. Give the Kidneys Help and Many Ypsilanti People Will Be Happier.

"Throw Out the Life Line"—
The kidneys need help.
They're getting worse every minute.
Will you help them?

Doan's Kidney Pills have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back from the verge of despair.

Mrs. Catherine McCullough, 10 E. Congress St., Ypsilanti, Mich., says: "I was often troubled by pains in my shoulders and could hardly walk. My kidneys were badly disordered and the kidney secretions were unnatural. Last winter I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and was led to procure a supply at Weinmann-Matthews Co.'s Drug Store. I began their use and in a short time felt so much better that I continued taking them until the pain and lameness in my back disappeared and my kidneys were restored to their normal condition. I am now eighty-one years of age and I attribute my good health to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

GOOD TALK ON INDIA

The Congregational Men's Club met Wednesday evening in the church edifice for supper at six o'clock. The men were afterwards addressed by J. P. McGavran of the U. of M. on "Social Life and Customs of India." He described the situation in India, where he had lived for twenty years as a missionary. Particularly interesting was his account of the plans which the English government is completing for the prevention of future famines in India. Mr. McGavran thinks they will be successful. He stated that the reason for famines occurring is not a lack of foodstuffs, but because laborers are thrown out of work. The speaker alluded with high praise to the English government. It is admirable, he said. There is no oppression on their part whatsoever.

Mr. McGavran also described the caste system and the way caste may be broken and recovered. The description of the great religious festivals or "mela" was extremely entertaining as odd indeed was his entire address.

REPAIRS FOR CHURCH AND MORE MONEY FOR MISSIONS

Considerable business of importance was transacted at the regular meeting Wednesday evening of the German Lutheran Ladies' society. They will give on the evening of May 16 an entertainment of singing and speaking with which to raise funds for painting and papering the interior of the church house, while the external work will be paid for by the young people's society. Mrs. Charles Reinhardt proposed that more be done for foreign missionary fields and she made the concrete suggestion that at each meeting of the society a collection be taken for this cause. The motion was carried and Mrs. John Maegle was made treasurer of this fund.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. Charles Beadle and family wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for kindness shown during the illness and death of a wife and mother.
